Form 1088F – Emergency Telephone; Patient Telephone in Hospital, Nursing Home, or Elderly Care Facility Complaint

BACKGROUND

The FCC prohibits the use of automatic telephone dialing systems or prerecorded messages to call:

- any emergency telephone line, including any 911 line and any emergency line of a hospital, medical physician or service office, health care facility, poison control center, or fire protection or law enforcement agency; or,
- any guest or patient room of a hospital, health care facility, elderly home, or similar establishment

UNLESS the call is made for an emergency purpose or with the called party's prior express permission.

You may not know whether or not a call you received used an automatic telephone dialing system. Calls to multiple telephone lines in quick succession often involve an automatic dialing system. Automatic dialing systems are used by many entities that regularly make calls to large numbers of telephone lines including telemarketers who rely heavily on such systems to conduct their business.

Determining whether an automatic dialing system has been used to make a particular call can be difficult. The more details you are able to provide, the greater the likelihood that the FCC will be able to determine whether a violation has occurred that could lead to an enforcement action.
