

STEVEN B. WEED

Steven Weed is Vice Chairman of the American Cable Association and is a member of the NCTA Small Operators Committee. With over 20 years in cable television, mostly in operations of smaller market cable systems, Mr. Weed now serves as President of Millennium Digital Media, Northwest Region. Prior to that he was Senior Vice President and Chief Operating Officer of Summit Communications, which was bought by Millennium Digital Media in April 1999. He joined the company in 1988 as manager of cable operations for Summit's King County systems. Mr. Weed began his career in the cable television industry in 1980 in Seattle with Group W Cable, first as sales manager and then as marketing manager. In 1983, he joined Falcon Cable Television in Southern California where he was marketing manager. He also worked for two years as a marketing manager for a nationally broadcast cable channel based in Los Angeles. Locally, he is a founding member of the Seattle Business Round Table and a member of the Pacific Northwest Chapter of the Young President's Organization. A graduate of the Harvard Business School, Mr. Weed resides with his wife and daughter in Kirkland, Washington.