

Be safe AND ready, Player One! ONLINE GAMING

While web-based video games can be a blast, they also can pose risks in real life. Be careful online!

Before you hit “Start”, remember:

-  Do not share personal information with other gamers while playing an interactive game.
-  Always get permission before making any game-related purchase. Some games will ask for a fee to level up or access extra features.
-  Decide how much time you will spend playing a game and stick to that plan.
