Explanation of Effort and Availability of Commercial Equipment

*Provide an explanation of efforts undertaken, and challenges encountered, in permanently removing, replacing, and disposing of covered communications equipment or service.

Rise Broadband will rip and replace all ZTE equipment on the sites in this application. Site surveys and detailed engineering have begun on sites in this application.

No additional delays are expected due to supply chain or labor shortages at this time, but it remains possible that there may be in the future, in which case Rise may need to request an extension.

The primary challenges in completing the rip and replace of covered equipment are as follows:

- The application and reimbursement processes require perfect alignment between application and reimbursement requests. Any deviation between the two can trigger the need for an application modification. Application modifications take many weeks to review, RFI and approve during which time all reimbursements are paused, even on lines unrelated to the modifications. This in turn, places a strain on cash flow and may require a work stop until reimbursements resume. Work stoppages can compromise contractors' ability to remain committed to the project and timelines causing further delays. In effect, the administrative burden of the program, combined with a lack of full funding, are the primary drivers of timeline compliance rather than the availability of equipment or labor to accomplish the work.
- Lack of additional funding for the applications has become a significant challenge to the overall timeline. It is Rise's intent to use the granted funds for the purchase of equipment and to outsource as much of the program as possible to third parties for execution. However, with the reduced funding, Rise will prioritize use of the allocated funds for the purchase of equipment and essential program expenses and request timeline extensions until additional funding is allocated.

*Explain whether you are finding commercially available equipment in the marketplace. If not, then explain efforts taken to obtain replacement equipment.

No additional delays are expected due to supply chain or labor shortages at this time, but it remains possible that there may be in the future, in which case Rise may need to request an extension.

* If there is additional information relevant to the preceding questions or that you believe the Commission should be aware of, please include the information below.

Rise Broadband is in the process of complying with the submitted timeline. No material revisions to the timeline are required at this time, however, without additional funding, the full rip and replace will not be able to be completed and requests for additional time are likely.
