Description

I'm all for the empowerment of women and enjoyed the music and dancing in the half-time show. The costumes were fine for the most part until explicit footage of squats with wide crotch shots were repeatedly broadcast. This sexually explicit demonstration too what is a typically fun family event at the end of the football season to a whole new low. I am pleading to the FCC and NFL to not tolerate this degradation of women. It was totally unnecessary and not what young girls should attribute to female empowerment.

Super Bowl 2020's half-time was totally inappropriate for TV and something billed as a "family" performance. Many complaints have been filed with clear descriptions of why this is true, but those complaints were apparently brushed off because there were so few. DO NOT for a minute think that only those who took the time to write a complaint were the ones offended. I have no idea if your commission can address content, but this seems to be how others issued complaints. Certainly hope these complaints are taken seriously.

City/State/Zip: Wilmington, Ohio 45177

Company Complaining About: Comcast

Description

I'd like to address the very sexually charged and NOT family-friendly half time show performed by Shakira and JLO during Super Bowl 2020.

My family and I were shocked and embarrassed that we let our nine-year-old daughter stay up past her bedtime to see the show which is typically a special annual "thing" in our home. Typically the Super Bowl half time shows are mostly fun, energetic, and clever. The shows have been fun expressions of talent and songs we've heard on the radio. We appreciate all the time, and hard work of everyone who makes the half time shows so cool. The half time show and some of the funny commercials are the reasons we let our kids stay up to watch the show. The commercials leading up to the show were very positive for young girls. We were impressed with their emphasis on equality. Lots of good things for impressionable young girls to see and hear. However, when that half time started we couldn't believe what was happening one shock at a time. From time to time, shows in the past have been sexually suggestive and were easier to talk through. This Shakira and JLo's show; however, had so much going on... never-ending crotch shots, gyrating on men, poles, air... you name it and only wearing strategically placed lace. JLo was basically naked for most of the show. It was very obvious the J Balvin guy was uncomfortable during JLo's leg humping. It looked like he was thinking, " I'd like to touch that but if I do... #metoo drama." And then.... JLos daughter makes an appearance as if to say to young girls everywhere. Yes... all of this grown woman's behavior is OK.

Your commercials sent messages of equality and then the half time show said jumping around like naked bimbos for a dollar is glamorous to our families- to our girls. I'm sorry, but you could not see "art" or goodness in the 2020 half time show. All the people who put hours and talent into that show were outshined by crotch shots and pole dancing. How can you teach equality and throw a show like that? It was wrong. We will not be staying up to watch halftime shows anymore. Way too much damage control to have to deal with future shows.

I was extremely embarrassed for JLo's daughter, seeing her mom dancing like a slut and using a stripper pole like she used to do that for a living. That is setting a VERY bad example for our youth!!!! Next time, please go with a Rock and Roll band who will concentrate on playing great music instead of being so sleazy!!!!

This show was terrible and an insult to the general viewing audience. This ranks right up with the Janet Jackson & Justin Timberlake wardrobe malfunction of years ago. I also blame the NFL completely for this show and I will continue to support college sports over professional.

I only realized today that I could file a complaint with the FCC about the vulgar, lewd, sexist superbowl halftime show by JLo and Shakira. This halftime "show" exposed children all over America to soft pornography. It was very vulgar and featured young children being exploited in a routine that undoubtedly encouraged sex exploitation of children by predators. What a terrible shame that a sports game we all love has something like this featured at halftime. It makes me wonder if we should stop supporting the NFL altogether.

nothing so embarrassing as seeing two grown (aka: older) women trying desperately to retain/gain a fan base.

the whole thing was embarrassing, and rather uncomfortable to watch. we eventually turned it off, and didn't return for 30 min. yes, we missed some of the 3rd qtr, but figured it was worth it.

when ms lopez came sliding on the pole, I turned to my husband and laughed as I said "well, I hope the MeToo folks ought to have a word or two about this.

am hopeful that both of the ladies are able to afford counseling, regarding why they feel the need to market themselves in this fashion.

to solve the problem, I suggest someone of high moral character have their finger on the KILL switch, and not be afraid/pressured to not hit it.

thank you

While I admire the talent of Jennifer Lopez and Shakira, I thought their performance during the Super Bowl half-time show was totally inappropriate. Families at Super Bowl parties have the TV on, 2 women are scantily dressed and performing sexual moves: pole dancing, twerking, skin tight revealing costumes. The men had to be salivating. Many families I know had to turn it off to prevent their children from seeing sexually explicit performances. Jennifer Lopez was grabbing her crotch! There should be criteria in place to prevent this from happening again.

Description

I wish to lodge a complaint regarding the inappropriate half time show which is degrading to women. The NFL needs to apologize for airing this show. There are children who watch the NFL and the Superbowl . What are we teaching our kids? This type of half time show promote sexually inappropriate behavior and women are deemed as objects. In the past the NFL has done a clean half time show this year the show was almost rated x and very insulting to women. JLO and the other singer should have even known the inappropriate message that they displayed on stage. I am to the point that I do not want to watch the NFL anymore if they support this type of inappropriate pole dance behavior. There were people on face book that were offended by the show posting there. Unwanted sexual harassment of women is a real issue and so is sex trafficking and your station and the NFL is teaching men to view women as objects by allowing this smut to appear on TV. We need education on the subject that women are not objects not to promote ignorance by displaying an inappropriate half time show with women who are not dressed appropriately who are doing inappropriate moves. This sport no longer endorses a clean half time show or at least that is how that appears to many viewers.

I am appalled with our government allowing such disgusting displays of sexual entertainment. I have read the complaints that you received & so totally agree with each & every one of them! First & foremost...the Super Bowl is considered "family time" in a lot of homes & this kind of halftime show certainly isn't something children should be subjected to. Not only does it plant inappropriate behaviors in them but it creates questions to their Parents about it all which I'm sure is a tough thing to explain to them. Second...there have been many performances during past Super Bowls that have left me in awe & thinking "that was awesome"! I can be quite sure that many other viewers would agree with me. I think that the FCC needs to raise the standards for the Super Bowl Halftime shows so that EVERYONE can enjoy them. Thank you for listening to my concerns. I was not able to give the exact channel that I watched it on as my roommate had brought it up on her TV through the internet so I just used a number. And by the way...my roommate was also disgusted by the show.

I didn't know I could do this, so this is a late complaint. I was disgusted by the Super Bowl half time show. In a time where our country is dealing with the Me Too movement and severe trafficking of girls and women, on public prime time TV we have two well known women dressed like sex industry symbols, dancing on poles, and shaking their bodies inappropriately. To make things worse, they brought very young girls on stage with them. It was as if the half time show supported the sex industry while we are trying to gain strides with the Me Too movement and protect women and young girls. I think I will just turn the TV off next time to protect myself and my family. Please make half time shows family appropriate and not degrading to women.

I don't know the exact time or channel number, and I think it was on Fox - I wasn't paying attention to all that. The halftime show at this year's Super Bowl (LIV) was a revolting soft porn show that was completely inappropriate for children. The halftime shows have been getting worse every year, and we have quit watching the Super Bowl because of it the last couple of years - starting after the Janet Jackson debacle. The only reason we watched this year was because we had two local East Texas boys playing in the game - one on each team. Then we had to suffer through the trashy display of halftime. J Lo and Shakira would have been arrested for lewd behavior with children present if they weren't rich and famous. I'm trying to raise my pre-teen son to be a decent man who respects women. Unfortunately I have to teach him that it's his responsibility to respect them even when they don't act respectable, because it will be HIS fault if he responds to their behavior. I know the old adage in advertising that "sex sells", but anywhere else, selling sex is a felony. So why are we selling it at family events like the Super Bowl? Please, next year, do a performance that children can be present for and parents not have to have a long talk or a teachable moment with them afterward.

I am writing this now because I didn't know where to complain at the time.

I felt the half time show at the super bowl was an adult strip club show with a lot of blatant sexual references. I was so embarrassed for my friends and family. It was very repulsive, depicting Latino women as nothing more than sexual beings and scanks. Shame on you for allowing this to air.

Super Bowl Sunday is a huge event throughout our nation. Many families tune in for football, commercials, and the half time show. We watched only the first few minutes of half time this year because as a family (with children ranging in ages from 8-16) we were all disgusted that the performance seemed to be more about sexualization than about music or talent of any kind. It was not a family friendly or public television worthy performance. These artists should be able to entertain an audience based on their voice talent alone. As a woman and a mother I was embarrassed and ashamed they would set an example for other girls and woman in that way.

I've never filed a formal complaint before. I continue to be disturbed by the 2020 Super Bowl halftime porn show to the point that I feel compelled to file this formal complaint. How can it possibly be considered acceptable "family entertainment" to have stripper poles and twerking on prime time tv? Did you sit there with your children and feel comfortable? Empowered, seriously? NOT HARDLY! I work hard as a parent to counter this influence on my children, yet you condone it? No penalty???? America depends on a higher bar for the safety and empowerment of our children going into the next generation. Its YOUR responsibility!! This is MORAL DETERIORATION promoted by these performers, condoned by the FCC, CBS, the NFL, and PEPSI. CONSERVATIVE AMERICA WILL BOYCOTT! If the FCC is not going to follow its own rules and can't be trusted to maintain basic guidelines of decency for prime time television, then this branch of the govt should be DISBANDED. DO YOUR JOB!

I do not recall entering a strip club or paying for one. It was tacky and disgusting to have my boys exposed to a 40 year old woman's private part without warning. The fact that the performers were proud of their show is even more unsettling. It's fine they choose to raise their children that way. Why should we subject to it? For the first time in my life I am finding myself saying I might not watch the super next year.

The show was an appalling and incongruous use of children to promote sexual expression. It was not the right venue for a focus on sexuality. Especially because the talent of both these women holds major power to influence the acceptance of adults crossing over the sexual boundaries of children. Child Sex Trafficking is real. Women have far more intelligence and capability than just their sexuality. The rich and famous do not get to abuse their power for personal gain and overlook their responsibility when it comes to the human rights of others. Talk about setting us back in the face of all the effort of Women's & Children's rights advocates. How are we ever to change the world? Seriously poor choice.

Doesn't anyone know the effect this has on young girls and boys. The girls see this as acceptable and even preferred behavior. The boys think that "cool" girls should behave this way. All the parenting guidance can't top national TV pushing obscene behavior. I'm not a prude. I can appreciate beautiful bodies in sexy outfits (within reason). It's the behavior that no one seems to be evaluating for its effect on young people. Shame on all those who thought this half time show was acceptable for a mixed audience. Pathetic. Vulgar gestures, uncensored and highly inappropriate for a children's audience and viewers. Viewers tune in from all age groups from around the world as a family event. This is exclusively an American even with all eyes on American culture. And, what do they see nationally and internationally? A show case of profound, provocative and absurd entertainment bordering in nudity, sexual gesturing and lude and lascivious acts by 2 entertainers, specifically Jennifer LOPEZ. She should be ashamed and provide an apology. In fact, to pay her for her acts would be yet another insult. WHO AUTHORIZED THIS CRIME?

FCC should get the script of the show BEFORE it is broadcast and edit it. This is not a PRIVATE broadcast, this is national TV. If she wants to put on a private nude show, got to HBO or similar.

I am a professor of Criminal, Social and Development Psychology at a University in California. What I saw shocked even me.

The halftime show for this year's SuperBowl game was entirely inappropriate for children. I had my two daughters, 10 and 16, watching, and I was horrified at the blatantly sexual overtones in this totally unsuitable "family" show. What kind of women are we teaching our girls to be if we promote half-clothed women who dance on poles and make suggestive body movements? Unbelievable. You should be ashamed of yourselves for allowing this trash.

What can be done? You probably won't do anything, and frankly, the damage is done. My girls can't unsee the disgusting display you call a halftime show. What should be done is to ban any kind of show as this. The Halftime Show aired on Feb 2nd was in appropriate for Prime Time viewing on a cable network. The show included graphic dancing showing women with their legs spread and barely clothed. The moves were sexual in nature and the camera angles only emphasized the gratuitous scenes. The show was during a sporting event and at a time slot which draws large numbers of family viewers - particularly with young children. These factors should have been taken into account when allowing this type of show to be aired during that time slot and on network television. This show was far more explicit in nature than certain language which is banned by the FCC. Why would this type of Sexualized programming be allowed during a family sports events viewed by millions?

Sexuality does not equal artistry, and focusing on the latter, demeans women, especially now when people are finally waking up to the fact that women have so much more to offer than their sexuality, as do men. The answer is, keep it PG for families and consider the kids. They're exposed to too much 'adult' issues, as it is.

I am writing to complain about the sexually-explicit, exploitative content of the 2020 Super Bowl Halftime show. Stripping, pole dancing, spreading legs on stage and sexual gyrations were the tip of the iceberg. Top this off with the political statement of the children in cages, then sexually-traumatizing them by bringing them on stage with the strippers....what more harm could you inflict during the prime time hour and a family event such as the Super Bowl?

I would have expected some type of viewing warning prior to the halftime show, just as is done with shows like The Walking Dead and cable movies.

I have contact Pepsi and will boycott their products. I am boycotting the NFL and its sponsors. Shame on everyone involved in this horrific display of sex, objectification of women, biased liberal politics and child abuse.

I realize this is late but I was unaware of how to submit a complaint until I read the CNN article about people's complaints regarding the NFL Superbowl halftime show. Please add this to your list of over 1300 complaints... the hypocrisy on display during the halftime show is appalling. I concur that this goes against all that the Me Too! and sex trafficking movement has accomplished and teaches young vulnerable and insecure girls the wrong message. Women need to be esteemed and not on display to titillate all males with their hormones on high alert. You cannot have it both ways! Save this stuff for the adult channels. I'm done anticipating a great half-time Super Bowl show only to watch it with great disappointment. You'd be better off doing a montage of over paid Super Bowl commercials instead. At least those are safe to watch and more entertaining than most of the celebrities they try to showcase.

Description

I respectfully ask that we return to a time in which our country adhered to some code of moral decency. The vulgar, sexual nature of the performance in the January halftime show is a disgrace to our country, to all women and to the integrity we are capable of as humans with a higher learning capacity. It was embarrassing and degrading to even be in the room with my adolescent sons and husband, who also agree it was uncomfortable and inappropriate. Please, let's use common sense in returning to decent standards in our country. And let's all (men and WOMEN) take accountability for the part that is played in inappropriate treatment between men and women. This is the opposite of women empowerment.

I am filing a complaint about the half-time show at the Super Bowl in February. Even I, being liberal, found this display to be disgusting and inappropriate. There appears to be no bottom these days for entertainers in their dress and their performances. As long as you continue to allow this, this type of offensive show will permeate society. Both Jennifer and Shakira are exhibitionists, craving attention and know no other way to achieve it, but to give us crotch shots. I am sick of this. Period.

I just realized I could send a complaint to the FCC regarding my great disappointment with the 2020 Super Bowl half time show. I thought it was vulgar and sent the wrong message to young people today. With the "Me Too" movement, why would a show be allowed during Family Viewing Time that promotes sexual, suggestive and right down "in your face" dancing? Too much for young children. While the younger generation may think it was okay because they are brainwashed as to what is acceptable, the performance could have been accepted based on the musical talent without all the stripper pole dancing, gyrations, twerking, etc. It was totally disgusting and I can't believe Jlo would allow her own daughter to be a part of it. What happened to modesty? The show promoted sexual promiscuity. And we wonder why there are so many teen pregnancies!! Duh!

The halftime show camera taking video up the skirt of the performers was completely inappropriate. And Jennifer Lopez pole dancing during PrimeTime in what is generally considered to be a family event was also in poor taste. The pole dancing I could forgive as a feat of athleticism but cameras videotaping a crotch shot is unexcusable - and don't tell me it was an accident, it happened too many times throughout the entire show to be an accident. Performers and videographers need to be fined, or whatever is deemed appropriate, to discourage this vulgar behavior from producers happening again.

The Super Bowl halftime show with JLo and Shakira was DISGUSTING. How can you claim to be family friendly when highlighting racy thongs and stripper poles? What a horrible message to send to my 8 year old daughter. I was appalled and outraged that in a time of #MeToo this is the best performance Pepsi/FOX/NFL can come up with... I refuse to watch another Super Bowl. Not to mention I don't need to ever listen to Shakira or JLo again... my daughter does not need to believe her value and self worth comes from acting like a stripper and dancing around almost naked. SHAME ON YOU.

This years Super bowl halftime show showered us with crotch shots of two female performers, a pole dance, crude tongue gestures all while being showed to millions of people. I watched in horror with my 18 year old daughter on one side and our 78 year old male neighbor on the other side as these women "danced" their way through the televised show. Numerous shots of their crotches and butts were aired, too many to count without watching it again. A woman danced on a stripper pole in front of kids in the stadium and on national television. While my child is 18, who wants to explain to their kid, no matter the age, what a stripper pole is, who uses it, why it is used, why is it onstage at a football game?

How was this approved to play during prime time? Why was this not addressed before the show by viewing the "dancing, stripping, pole dancing, crotch show at rehearsals?

Until today, I was not sure where to file a complaint but during the Super Bowl halftime "show" I was sickened at the sight of half dressed women twirling on stripper poles. This is not appropriate family entertainment as the NFL stated it would be. I felt violated at having that junk come into my home. On top of it, the entertainers own daughter was participating?? What is the message to our young girls and boys? Is there any wonder there is an increase in sex trafficking? This was hands down, NOT family entertainment. Then you have people complaining they are OBJECTIFIED sexually but that is what this PROMOTED. Is any one from the Me-Too movement outraged as I am? Hypocrites all. And where's the Me Too women? Do you not see the hypocrisy? The women looked naked. This is not something that should have been on TV prime time, or pumped into my home. Please clean up these "family friendly" half time events or I will NOT be watching the Super bowl in the future. It was seriously disturbing....are these "entertainers" seriously that much out of touch with what is considered "family" entertainment. Please! Do something!

First, I am NOT a religious conservative, but I was appalled at the Super Bowl halftime show, also. That vulgar display did nothing for women, but point out what hypocrites we can be. We want "our cake and eat it, too." In other words, that show says we should be able to put on a shameless display for men and then expect them to always act like gentlemen. Give me a break! This was "R" rated. It would not have been allowed on a regular TV show. Why was it allowed on a "family" program? Thank you for your consideration of my complaint.

My husband was HORRIFIED to have to try to explain to our daughter about why JLo and Shakira were CONSTANTLY shaking their A$$ES on NATIONAL TELEVISION for all of the world to see! HORRIBLE!!! It's bad enough that two very talented and gifted female performers feel that they must LITERALLY SHAKE their "best asset" for validation and views, but to pawn that "T&A" performance off as a SuperBowl Halftime Show has sunk to NEW LEVELS!! Remember the uproar about Janet Jackson?? That was KID'S PLAY compared to this! In particular, the camera zoomed into their butts? What was that about? I would have turned off the show before it occurred if anyone had told me it was going to happen. This is worse than the wardrobe malfunctions of other years. To zoom in on someone's butt was intentional and completely devoid of artistic value. The other things -- stripper poles, grabbing of crouches, etc spoke of pornography, but were also part of the larger scenes so could be downplayed, but zooming in on a butt is blatant and inexcusable.

Today, I learned via the news media that over 1,300 complaints were filed over the SuperBowl 2020 Performance. Please consider this 1,301. If I were aware that I could file a complaint like this via the FCC, I would have done so sooner. The performance was completely inappropriate for a show that is viewed by families. I was sitting there with my 7 and 9 year old sons, and the angles of "thrusting" was completely pornographic in nature. I was left in shock. I was saddened as every year since Bruno Mars, we have looked forward to sitting and watching half time together. I realized as I watched, that those days are over. As if Shakira's performance wasn't enough, the addition of a stripping pole and scantily dressed nothing to the imagination attire and further thrusting, it was so uncomfortable and unnecessary. We walked away. The imagery on national television during a family watched show is completely wrong and I would appreciate some editing and conscience consideration of what small children are watching. Not all of America appreciates the trash and filth that Hollywood projects. I thought the FCC was supposed to be a voice of reason especially during afternoon programming.

I was disgusted by J-Low's erotic exhibition at the Super Bowl Half-time show. I wondered if it was actually Miley Cyrus impersonating her, but no, it has all the other way around. Naturally both on the opposite ends of their careers, one hardly trying to get in and the other sadly on her way out, shamelessly exploiting their sexuality and desperation for exposition and attention from male intellectuals obfuscated by sexual instincts and monetary gain, and to top it off getting her own daughter involved and two male singers (Bad bunny and Bad Balvin?) apparently representing some M13 gangsters. I trusted since Janet Jackson's breast exposure this wouldn't happen again, however we have reached the point where it is intentionally promoted, in complete spite of the 10? seconds of transmission delay. I feel sorry for the Colombian girl tainting her long more decent and sober career by a spoiled apple. I demand this not to happen ever again on national TV!

I have been reading about all the complaints you have recieved over the shakira and Jlo superbowl performance. It's ridiculous and a waste of time. The ladies were dressed tastefully and their performances were epic. My 1 and 4year old daughters want me to replay it constantly and we all dance together. It's so liberating seeing their happy faces dancing to the rhythm and me a Latina knowing that this is the first of many latino performing at the superbowl and imagining my daughters doing whatever they set their mind to do. The dancers along with the artists had on more clothing than the cheerleaders you see on the sidelines. And more clothing than the shirtless men who have performed in the past. I hope that you have recieved as much positive feedback if not more than negative. In my opinion, this was the best show I've seen and I've seen many.

I have seen family television shows turn into a disgusting display of political crap over the years and I hate having to explain to my children why a man dresses like a woman and vice versa along with nearly every family friendly television series incorporating Gay and Lesbian/transgender characters. I understand these people want recognition of their chosen sexes and sexuality but I don't go around kissing men just because I am straight and what not but do you really need to put it in everything?! Does it have to be in everyone's faces non-stop? Children should not be subjected to these things until they are older and they can make up their own minds. This is poisoning the minds of our young and confusing them when they don't need to be. Its the downgrade of our society I will boycott every "family friendly" television series or movie that feels they have to include a gay couple or lesbian couple or transgender person from now on. Children are innocent and your stealing their vary innocence by allowing this I shouldn't have to monitor family friendly shows to avoid the outrageous amount of these things in everything. People can do what they want but it doesn't need to be in everyone's faces non-stop.

The Super Bowl half time show held in Feb. 2020 was the most disgusting, x-rated show that I have ever seen in the history of the Super Bowl. Pole dancing, twerking, disgraceful hand gestures and lack of clothing. Families should have been warned before the show started that it was not suitable for children. Very sad and something needs to be done to prevent shows of this type on television. Thanks for your help.

I have a complaint re: the 2020 Super Bowl Half Time show. I and husband were visiting our family, including our four grandchildren and two of their little friends, and watching the Super Bowl. We were ALL, especially the women and girls in the group, shocked and disgusted by the display put on by J-Lo and Shakira. It was raunchy, sexist, perverse, and clearly geared toward a horny male population (I know this was broadcast on FOX - this appears to be fashioned after trump's continued deplorable and degrading comments of women!). Pole-dancing, tongue-thrusting, and crotch-grabbing??? We made our two young grandsons leave the room; our two granddaughters were appalled. This is 2020, for God's sake, and I am all for women's rights and RESPECT for women and young girls! Who the hell decided this was appropriate for ANYONE, especially young children and women all over the U.S. and the world, watching the Super Bowl?! The NFL and FCC should be ashamed of such an offensive and degrading show of women and little girls!

My husband and I WILL BOYCOTT ALL FUTURE SUPER BOWLS AND THE NFL. Roger Goodell and his lack of action against the HORRIFICALLY BAD CALL that cost the Saints their Super Bowl title in that so-obviously rigged game a year ago, and this final crass, outdated, and disrespectful display of porn in this year's half-time show -- have sealed the fate in our household, -- NO MORE SUPER BOWLS ON OUR TVS. SHAME ON THE NFL, ROGER GOODELL, FOX, AND THE FCC!

Fines should be issued, and this sort of thing should not be allowed on cable television. At the very least, a warning should have been issued so that parents could take their children out of the room. It was absolutely indecent.

They should be fined. FCC needs to do better for our children to monitor this behavior. It has become a “norm” to sexualize women and sex in general. And we all wonder why 6th graders are having sex and babies. Unbelievable. Everyone I’ve talked to feels the same but didn’t know how to file a complaint. After these types of performances, there should be a disclaimer on how to report complaints so you can get the true number of offended people. It went beyond suggestive to down right explicit with the final straw being the close up of Jennifer Lopez's crotch as she slid across the stage. The general viewing public has a reasonable expectation of decency when watching T.V. programming that targets a general audience and the airing of that half-time performance failed that expectation completely.

I am glad we had the super bowl recorded. Three families had gathered to have a nice time together eating and watching the game. We had a houseful of children ranging from 1-17. As the half time show started it didn't take us long to realize we needed to fast forward through the whole thing. What we saw as we fast forwarded was highly inappropriate for any age, not just children. As we heard other peoples account of what took place, we were saddened that many people considered this as highly empowering for women and not sexual at all. It seems as if those in charge of the Super Bowl are pushing the envelope more and more each year to see what they can get away with. I'm afraid next year we will have our own version of the Super Bowl called the "Souper Bowl", where we can enjoy good food, one another, and keep the entertainment G rated.

Description

I read an article today on msn.com that people have complained to you about the Superbowl halftime show. I would like to voice my support for the performance and its performers. Shakira and Jennifer Lopez should be able to dance how they see fit. They are successful, female musicians and performers who are comfortable in their own skin and who are talented dancers. While some may have viewed their dancing as profane or overly provocative, I thought it was an impressive display of dancing that I found to be both skillful and entertaining. If I could dance around a pole like that, I would, but I am far too inflexible and would likely topple over and land on my face. If some parents are concerned about their children, the Superbowl is probably not the best programming for them to watch at all, as the sport is aggressive and even some of the commercials could be considered inappropriate for younger audiences. I would advise parents who don't want to see the dancing to turn off their TV for the half time, rather than try to prevent similar performances in the future, because people like me would miss out. I thought the performance was wonderful and that both performers did a great job, and they really seem to enjoy performing as well.

This message is written to express my extreme disappointment and disapproval of the Superbowl half time show aired earlier this month. The performance by Shakira and Jennifer Lopez was a disgrace and completely inappropriate for a show geared toward families. This performance should be left for strip clubs and audiences over 21. In addition, this sends a disturbing message about how it's okay for women to represent themselves publicly as sex objects. The performance is nothing more than glammed up street trash. There was absolutely no class- no ladies present. Is this what we've come to? Is there no raw talent that exists where families can watch and not be offended? Is this this best we can do as a society? Let's think outside the box!

I am very disappointed about the kind of shows TV broadcasters show during family times. I really try not to watch TV for this same reason of these TV networks showing too much vulgar and explicit sexual content, but I was hoping that in a sports event things would be different. Again, I was wrong and thought that you care for the moral values of the US citizens. It seems obvious that what you only care about is helping businesses make more money at the expense of social fabric degradation.

Description

I was watching this with my four children under 8 years old. During half time my dad had the sense to cover the older kids heads with a blanket when it started to get inappropriate. I thought he was overreacting until J-LO came out and repeatedly crotch-shotted the world while dancing on a pole in almost no clothes. There is entertainment to showcase talent, and there is entertainment to showcase sex. We would have never left the tv on if we thought it would be the latter. I'm sad for the performers that this is what they chose to do with their once in a lifetime half-time performance experience. I'm also sick that this is supposedly seen as okay or normal. Shame on the NFL for letting this feed into the pornographic, sex-traffic problems that are taking root in our culture. It's despicable. In the article that I read today about it they claimed that only one tenth of one percent felt this show was inappropriate, but I can tell you from talking with everyone with whom I am in contact, it disgusted ALL of us. Just because it isn't getting complained or reported more doesn't mean it's not a bigger problem. People are often too busy to complain. Trust me when I say that no one that I know enjoyed this show or will be watching half time with their kids ever again.

I would like to add my voice to rising chorus of people who were highly offended by this year's Super Bowl Half-time show. The absurdity of two women performing in such a sexualized vulgar strip club manner and trying to pretend that it in any way underscores female empowerment insults common sense. My daughter had to phone the father of her 8 year old child to ensure that the child was NOT watching the performance. She was that disturbed by it. Jennifer Lopez's daughter performing onstage with her only added to the perversity of the performance. Shame on Fox, shame on the NFL for allowing the performance to go on air.... and shame on the FCC if no action is taken to stop this level of vulgarity happening again at a future Super Bowl half-time show!

I would like to file a complaint regarding the highly inappropriate Super Bowl Halftime Show on 2/20/2020. It is advertised as a family show and there was nothing family like in that show. A stripper pole dance, barely any clothes, gyrating on the stage floor, with little girls on stage, making disgusting motions with their mouths, the whole thing was beneath what I expect at the Super Bowl. I have been a fan of the half time show for decades. This went way past the line of decency. I have a reasonable expectation that the Super Bowl halftime show will be rated for all audiences . I am writing in regards to the Super Bowl halftime show. I was deeply offended and disturbed by the sexually explicit performance that was allowed to be performed for a supposed family friendly experience. We had to scramble because we had three girls present between the ages of 11 and 7. They had one commercial were it seemed they wanted to get youth involved and excited about the NFL, and than they show basically soft core porn! And not to mention having children included in the performance in cages!

I am surprised by the serious lack of any morality shown by the individuals that approved and let that performance air on national TV during a event watched by millions of children.

I agree with others that the 2020 Superbowl halftime show was nearly pornographic and shouldn't be broadcasted on network television during primetime or should include a warning about lewd/sexually explicit behaviors. My husband and I knew it was coming up and so with a three year old son and 7 year old daughter. Paused the show and said football was on a break. We fast-forwarded once we were sure it was over, and resumed live TV. But I too will be boycotting Pepsi for one year. I am writing in regards to the REVOLTING superbowl half time show that was allowed to air 2020. It is beyond belief that these half naked women, pornographic gestures and extremely sexually provocative images were allowed on national television that my children were also watching. My family turned off the television and this will be the last superbowl that we watch. These are not performers, these are horrible women (which we would refer to as "hoes") that do NOTHING to promote women's rights, if anything, they degrade women. Neither I nor my daughter would ever dress or act like this in public, what JLo was doing belongs in the bedroom with her husband behind closed doors. Just absolute filth and disgusting public behavior and definitely not family oriented. What is it going to be next year to gain the public's attention; full out sex on the stage? The bar is getting raised too doggone high and I for one have had enough. I feel that there should absolutely be the worse fine against the network that has ever occurred, perhaps they will actually try to do better next time instead of just getting the proverbial slap on the wrist.

We need a half time show that is appropriate for all ages, rated G if you will. This halftime show was disappointing to say the least, since in my opinion it objectified women by focusing on sexy dressing and dancing. Women don't need to be that way to be seen as beautiful or desirable by men. But the more young girls see it on tv, by celebrities (whether or not these celebrities agree they are doing it for sexual appeal) the more they will feel they have to act the same to be as desirable or beautiful. Sad sad day for the USA.

Especially during events/programming where people wish to watch with their families. You claim to have provisions to protect us, but it is very clear that the degradation has been slow and calculated, as if to establish a new normal. In addition, the openly accepted views/promotion of all religions, including satanism, grossly undermines the majority of the population who you are now seeking to isolate. I am filing a complaint in regards to the Shakira and J.Lo halftime show. As a mom of 4, the Superbowl is the one football game we all enjoy watching in the year. This halftime show was disgusting. The Superbowl as a whole is during primetime viewing hours. It should be kept clean. The genre of music, nor the fact that the ladies are Latino have anything to do with my complaint. I also was disgusted with last year's Maroon 5 show. The sexualization of the show is disturbing... Is the point of the show to teach people how to pole dance, bend over in front of a camera, publicize bondage, or just zoom in for a crotch shot? I turned it off. I was hoping after last year's performance, the bar would be raised higher, instead it was lowered to a sleepy level. For years women have fought to be recognized as women, and not sexualized as objects. All that was thrown out with that performance.

I certainly hope you will review these complaints and take them seriously, that people are tired of the trash and make the NFL and involved parties to be held accountable for their decisions as well as put criteria in place to prevent this from happening in the future.

The half-time show was completely disgusting. I am a woman, I enjoy watching football and it is my opinion that I should also be able to look forward to the Super Bowl halftime show with as much enthusiasm as I do to the actual game. This year was SO bad, I felt like I was watching an x-rated movie sex scene with my children and husband in the room. It was appalling, embarrassing, and nobody on that stage was anyone I would ever my daughter's to look up to or idolize.

There are plenty of talented entertainers who would be a much better choice for the families that are looking to be entertained, not exposed to the trash that was put forth this year!

I hope the entertainment choice for the SuperBowl 2021 halftime show will be considered carefully. I can assure you that my family and I will turn the tv off and not watch any of the game or the show if it is anything like what happened this year.

Description

Hello,

I am sure I am not the only one who has taken the time to write a formal complaint, but here I am hoping our voices will be heard.

I anticipated the Half Time show at the Super Bowl to be fun, and full of incredible talent and I was not disappointed in that respect. I was, however, shocked to see the lack of clothing and self respect that was displayed on my TV screen. The Super Bowl is typically a family event at my house and we had to turn it off due to risque movements, stripper pole dancing, and partial (in my opinion) nudity. It was not appropriate and I currently have no intention of watching next years Super Bowl because of it.

We need to set good examples for our girls growing up that they do not have to be sex objects in order to make it in this world. We need to be a world where women are celebrated for their talent and they don't need anything outside of that to be recognized and celebrated. Please do better and allow better.

This is unacceptable for a "family" friendly show.

The halftime show was in very poor taste considering the Super Bowl is considered family entertainment! I was shocked to see pole dancing and barely there costumes. To put children in that sex show was completely irresponsible. It's obvious that the two ladies on the stage are totally desensitized to the message they sent the viewing public--have they forgotten the Me Too issues? Shame on you FOX TV!

I just heard a story on TV that only 1,300 people complained about the recent 2/2/2020 Superbowl half-time show. If I had known there was a place to report my objection, I would have done it on that Sunday. I objected to last's years half-time show with Adam Levine. If these complaints can amount to change, then I am all for it. If not, at lease I can tell the FCC that these shows are 'too much'. I was watching the Superbowl at my church! The half-time show became embarrassing. And while I'm here, I am so happy the ridiculous Victoria Secret's "Fashion Show" going down the toilet makes me happy!

I was really disgusted with the inappropriate dancing and costumes that the performers wore. When I think of the NFL, I think family time, as I have always grown up watching football with my family. I was disappointed with the half naked women, one on a stripper pole as entertainment. What happened to empowering women? Women shouldn't be paraded on TV with their "parts" hanging out as an example to our girls growing up that this is a good role model. Shame on the NFL and to the FCC.

Hire entertainment that you wouldn't be embarrassed showing your 5 year old daughter, or your 85 year old grandmother.

This show violated your own rules, to wit:

"Obscenity, Indecency and Profanity. It is a violation of federal law to air obscene programming at any time. It is also a violation of federal law to broadcast indecent or profane programming during certain hours. ... The FCC vigorously enforces this law where we find violations."

These two women are talented singers, but their show evidently had little to do with singing, and a lot to do with sex. The costumes were indecent, the dancing was nothing but sexual come-on, and something one might imagine happens in a strip club. This performance should not have been aired, and I hope that in the future, the FCC will take the time to review the planned performances prior to allowing them to be aired.

I don't feel like I need to go into detail with how disgusting the half time show was, as I see you've had enough complaints with details. I just want to add that I also did not enjoy the show and it's sexual focus. I told my wife that I was basically watching a strip show, but it was much more than just a strip show. Luckily my kids were outside playing at the time.

Also be aware that you only received 1300+ complaints because many people don't know who to complain to. I didn't until I read an article about this. But let it be known that 4 people were at my house and had the same complaint as me. Then add to that my friends and neighbors. The NFL is turning into a joke. I've stopped paying attention years ago, but unfortunately I have a family member that enjoys watching the game.

I want to add my concern about the explicit nature of the Super Bowl halftime show. I did not think it was appropriate for prime-time. I saw pole dancing and twerking. That is not appropriate for the Super Bowl general audience.

Considering that American sports are such a fun family event and so many of us play and support athletics in our society, I was terribly disappointed to see such a non-family-oriented halftime show.

Will you please influence decision-makers in areas such as this to keep the entertainment innocent enough for a 5-year-old to watch it? I'm 50+ and I don't even want to see those gyrations.

I was especially disappointed in J-Lo, considering that she has children of her own.

Please screen the entertainment beforehand or fine the entertainers for such overt sexual content.

But not on national television where there are millions of people, families, children, watching. It was a disgusting and tasteless act full of sexually inappropriate performances. It is an utter DISGRACE that the FCC did not censor this act. While it was my right to turn my channel, and I did, it should also be my right to be able to watch a national sporting event without such tasteless acts called "a performance". Description

In the Supreme Court's 1964 landmark case on obscenity and pornography, Justice Potter Stewart famously wrote: "I know it when I see it." That case still influences FCC rules today, and complaints from the public about broadcasting objectionable content drive the enforcement of those rules.

Super Bowl Half-Time Video:

https://www.youtube.com/watch?v=pILCn6VO_RU

FOX 31 allowed INDECENT PROGRAMMING! INDECENT CONTENT! and OBJECTIONABLE CONTENT during Super Bowl 2020. Jennifer Lopez, Shakira and Fox 31 should pay fines and this pornographic behavior needs to stop. Jennifer should be registered as a sex offender because I feel sexually assaulted by her!! There is a time to learn about sexuality but the Super Bowl is not one of those times.

Jennifer Lopez's legs spread and intentionally bringing focus to her vagina which is covered with a tiny strip of cloth is suggestive of being nude and implying sexual intent and arousal. And there were many other depictions that contained sexual content.

This behavior, for obvious reasons, (sex trafficking, sex addiction, etc., on and on..) really does contribute to society's illegal sex issues.

This simulation of sex is not positive "the children" (and even some adults) especially if they have not been informed of sex properly yet. There is a concern everywhere, all the time for the children's safety and their future. Obviously, the entertainment industry has no problem being hypocrites! I am disgusted to see this insanity more (and more) often and it has to stop before it continues to get even worse!! Is it really this bad? Mmmm....

It was totally inappropriate for a family event to allow that type of provocative show on tv. It's one thing to attend as an adult a purchased ticket at a private event but this was the televised Super Bowl where families are certainly watching with kids of all ages. The FCC should be protecting overexposing and sexualizing our kids during a family program. I originally wrote to the NFL the day after the 2020 Super Bowl. After not receiving any kind of response I decided to write to the FCC.

The 2020 Super Bowl halftime show was, in my opinion, nearly pornographic. It use to be that the folks that I gather with to watch this game would look forward to the super bowl. Not any longer. I didn't need to see harldy clothed women gyrating around on the stage, swinging on a stripper pole, flicking their tongues at the camera in some strange display.

I thought the FCC was in place to protect viewers from displays like this. It happened during prime time viewing hours during the most-watched show of the year. I think the NFL should be held accountable for authorizing such a distasteful display and the FCC should ensure that this type of debauchery never happens again. I choose what I watch very carefully and had no idea that American TV standards had fallen to such a low.

I admire Jennifer Lopez and Shakira's talent, but not their use of costumes and dance moves during their performance. The camera angles seemed to emphasize crotches and breasts, and did nothing to highlight these women's other abilities. While it is admirable that two Latina women were featured, the entire performance only showed their bodies as sex symbols and objectified them to the point that their other talents and abilities were forgotten. This is not empowering to women, it is only a continuation of the narrative that women and their bodies are only good for one thing. Please stop featuring this kind of performance, especially during family viewing events.

Description

I have waited for a bit to file a comment on the half time (show) of the super bowl this year in February. I believe America has had enough shock and awe from those trying to leave their mark on the minds of our children and families. The super bowl was to be a family show and for all ages. I believe that the only way to stop these moments is to take the license from the stations that allow that to happen. We wanted to say in seasons past that costume issues with Miss Jackson and the kind of trash we saw this year are just going to keep going to where it is common for Americas children to see and face these things regardless of their ages. I have let several (to many) things slide on the television shows now days but it seems that just hitting the "Stop Recording" button is not enough. I am asking you as the FCC to pull the reigns back and to stop this type of thing. If nothing else you need to rate the shows like they do on tv so parents are able to put a stop to young eyes being even more invaded with the filth of our television. I am at this time asking you to rate the halftimes. I am also asking you to fine the Super Bowl Producers and to make sure via the pocketbook that we do not face this again without it costing our young families and children. My names is (b) (6) and I live in Pampa, Texas. Americas families have had enough of this. IF I don't get help here I can and will take it on up the ladder.

For many years we did not have to be worried if our children watched a sports championship but since Janet Jackson's costume "mishap" the half-time shows have gotten more and more explicit. We do NOT want to watch people scantily-clad women pole dancing, bumping and grinding and seeing kids in cages! We do not want to watch a "performer" lifted high in the air in the form of a crucifix! Even if one is not a Christian, this is mockery and highly objectionable.

The halftime show was an extremely offensive, revolting, indecent, pornographic and vile assault. It was not just unsuitable for "family" entertainment, it was unsuitable period! I was appalled that this was allowed, rather than prevented, by your systems in place, especially for a prime time national sports event. Was nothing implemented to prevent this after Janet Jackson's partial nudity (which pales in comparison to this!)?

I was very disappointed with the recent superbowl halftime show. I have a family of 4 young boys. Today we are told to love and see girls/women for more than their sexual bodies. Women want to be seen for what they say and that they are more than just sex objects. Then the superbowl halftime show kicks on going in the opposite direction. 2 ladies perform glorifying their bodies as sex objects and wearing little to nothing. So we are back to the whole sex sells and quite frankly I had to turn off the show and switch to ESPN. It was just that bad. If this continues in this pattern then lets just turn it into a strip show for that matter. This was in very poor taste and year by year I find myself really only able to watch sports on TV with my kids.

Disappointed in Indiana.

Super Bowl half time shows should be family friendly and appropriate for ALL ages! The show that J.Lowe and Shakira put on was very sexually suggestive and inappropriate for its audience. The right forum would be Vegas, not millions watching including children! This sends the wrong message to girls that this is appropriate and our culture is suggesting that people dancing and revealing most of your body in a sexual way is accepted if not encouraged. Who OKd this? I am a teacher and one student in 5th grade is obsessed with going to a strip club. He claimed the reason when he turns of age to go to a strip club is because of what he saw at the half time show! Shame on the industry and the message it sensed. Very offensive. Teaches and encourages boys to view women as sexual objects!

I realize I'm a little late in submitting this, but didn't really think about the fact that I could file a complaint until I saw an article. I just want to join with the other voices in saying that the Superbowl Halftime show was not appropriate for prime time television. Families were watching with their children, and sorry, but soft porn and stripper poles are not acceptable during what's supposed to be a family friendly show. If this is the kind of thing that will be allowed, then it's time to start giving clear warnings and ratings just as you do for other TV shows where there is mature content. The Superbowl or any other show like it should not be exempt - they should be letting families know that their children should not be watching. Our kids are slammed with enough gratuitous sex - it shouldn't be happening during what is supposed to be a family friendly event.

However, the movements were so inappropriate that I sent my son out of the room and I, as a mother, also turned it off. To read that people are comparing this to a previous half time show in which a man took off his shirt, I think we should understand that there still are differences between men and women. I have read through the complaints about the half time show, which was nothing less than a strip show. Maybe a lot of perverted old men and young boys may have enjoyed the provocative girations, but I was totally offended. If that is the best we can do in this country for a family-oriented show then perhaps we should discontinue hiring trashy performers and raunchy music. This is NOT HBO or Showtime, and was not appropriate for to air on network tv. They said they wanted to be role models for young girls. Both JLo and Shakira should be ashamed of their performance and putting themselves out there as models for girls or even anyone in this country.

Showing skin is not the issue. The issue is the highly sexual nature of J Lopez's outfit and her dance moves. As a staunch feminist, from a liberal state, I do not think this was appropriate viewing or represented "empowered women."

Greetings,

This should come as no surprise, as many have voiced their concern and disapproval over the 2020 Super Bowl halftime Show. This show was not only inappropriate for an adult to view, but beyond inappropriate for a child to view and to think such imagery was broadcast on our television stations is devastating, heartbreaking and make one ponder about our current American society in view and light of our generations that have past us. This show should have been rated definitely as inappropriate for young viewers, however, this was not the case. I am confident that this will get remedied in the most reasonable manner.

Thank you for your time in reviewing this complaint.

Hello. I thought there were rules against showing indecency before 8 PM or something like that. Will the producers of the Super Bowl be fined for showing indecent behavior at a time that lots of children are expected to be watching? I had to quickly turn off the tv during the sexual dancing so that my kids wouldn't watch it. I'm sure there were thousands of children exposed to that indecency because their parents weren't in the same room or maybe didn't care. I hope to hear about a hefty fine laid on these producers so they are more careful in the future. If not, why even have the rules?

Of course I'm sure you already know from the subject alone what this complaint is about. That halftime show was very uncomfortable for me as a woman to watch alone. But as a mother with young kids, it was unbearable. That was totally and horribly sexualized way more than needed. I don't see why things need to be so sexualized anyway when we know kids are going to be watching. It's horrible that when there are men and women dancing on stage the men typically are wearing pants and long sleeves, but then the women are scantily dressed and you're lucky if you don't get a shot of their underwear.

I found what I watched of the Super Bowl half-time show to be extremely inappropriate for a prime-time event that is supposed to be family friendly. Vulgar, lewd exhibitions such as was displayed should be limited to adult only programming and back-street strip clubs. Please stop this endorsement of indecency and have an actual fun, family show with clean talent instead of pornography.

I would like to add my complaint to the growing list. I thought the halftime show crossed the inappropriate line as well. My seven year old should not be asking me why the dancer is showing her booty during what is supposed to be a family-friendly broadcast. Additional censorship is needed in some form or fashion.

the 2020 halftime show was promoted by J Lopez & Shakira as a showcase of "women empowerment" How is the oversexualized show these women presented empowering women? It was a sham, an excuse for these women to flaunt all the recent progress made by the Me Too movement. They just put us back 20 years, all in the name of entertainment. Shame on FOX for not putting the brakes on this halftime show.

I'd like reassurance that new steps are being taken to ensure that a similar incident won't occur again. The Halftime Show, if shown in its entirety, would have necessitated an "R" movie rating. That point by itself begs the following question: Who could justify showing it (1) in the early evening (2) to tens of millions of children (3) with absolutely no warning re. the adult content? There simply is no justification - and this lack of oversight needs to be corrected moving forward.

Hello! Just wanted to write regarding the half time show at this years Super Bowl. My wife and I have 3 boys (12, 8 and 4) and we are all sports fans. Unfortunately, the Super Bowl halftime show was way over the top to take in with our boys. How was it beneficial to women across the country and/or for children watching the game? Again, as a culture we are seeking to promote the equality of women and then this halftime show is offered? I sincerely hope a change is in order for future Super Bowls, as this years was a joke. I understand that sex sells and that's exactly what you capitalized on - too bad.

I just learned where I could voice my complaint about the hyper sexualized half time show that was aired during the super bowl this year. I consider the attempt to subject my three children ages 10, 8, 8, to this program as a form of sexual abuse. If anyone in their presence behaved in this sexual manner they would rightly be prosecuted for lewd behavior towards a minor. Why is this allowed over the air? I can't begin to express the outrage I feel that there is no protection of the morality that is written into the laws of this country by the FCC. Please enforce decency laws.

I am disgusted by the half time show at the Superbowl and appalled that this was permitted on public television in conjunction with what is generally a family program. The station, sponsors/advertisers should all be outraged and in the future the half time show should be approved/rated PG in advance of the Super Bowl so viewers can feel comfortable watching with their kids. I am boycotting the NFL, the TV station and all of the sponsors/advertisers who permitted that pornography to be publicly aired. That performance was a disgrace and shows the entire world what a degenerate nation we have become. I have always been proud to be an American, but Superbowl Sunday humbled me in a way I never expected. I am fully aware that sex trafficking and degradation of women and children is very prevalent in the US and I thought the majority of citizens here were as appalled by it as I am. But to see this kind of performance so publicly displayed and accepted tells me that I am in the minority and that sex trafficking, and abuse of women and children will not stop as long as we support such events. I propose that the FCC stop all displays of pornography and abuse on television - immediately and with harsh consequences for any violators.

It wasn't necessary. I support women being empowered but their talent was masked in over sexualization of the performance. That's not respect, admiration- its lust. If something like this is planning to be aired, appropriate warning needs to be provided that some scenes are not appropriate for small children.

My complaint is in regards to this years super bowl half time show. The Super Bowl is a family affair. My husband and kids and enjoy this together the same way we enjoy a Disney movie night or a night out at the bowling alley. We look forward to the halftime show the most and it is a moment where we all come together and are completely focused on the tv. This year I had to turn the tv off completely and my family and I could not enjoy that moment together. I was uncomfortable about my husband watching the close ups of the crotch and butt but more importantly, I was uncomfortable with my daughters and young son seeing those images. In no way was this family friendly, in no way did this send a positive image to my children, and in no way should this be allowed to go unforgiven. If performances like this are allowed to continue, families should be warned the same way a movie warns us through their ratings. If the Super Bowl and it's half time show continues down this path, it and all of its sponsors will quickly loose our support. They need to be held accountable.

I was appalled and sickened by the Super Bowl halftime show. Have all TV standards been abandoned? Our family, which is neither prudish or religious, was shocked by the near-gynecologic display put on by Jennifer Lopez and Shakira.

In the years of #MeToo, how could you represent women this way, as gyrating, ass-shaking strippers and hookers? Get with the program, please. Aside from the Super Bowl being 'family viewing,' can't you understand that women are smart, strong, and productive? Or are they simply ambassadors of ass?

You have also turned off many women who are increasingly interested in football. Way to go.

Next year, get a band.

I would appreciate a sincere, non-form-letter response. Thank you.

I want to join those who found the Super Bowl half time show deplorable. The Super Bowl is prime time television. It's quite obvious there are children viewing and this year's half time show was an incredible display of poor taste. Aside from the children, there are many adults who do not expect to see a strip tease, pole dancing, crotch showing display during half time. Let's get some common sense people. Just because a large part of our world has lost all their sense of decency doesn't mean the leaders of our social world cannot live by a higher standard. Think better, do better, be better and our world will be a much happier place.

Description

The show was not family friendly; not appropriate for minors.

If PG rated movies are for age 8 and up, then the halftime show was not even rated PG. So that leaves it with the next rating of R. I don't want my 12 year old boy and girl seeing woman in that overly-sexualized way. It gives the wrong message to both genders.

Please respond FCC or NFL.

It's a month later and I'm still appalled that the half time show for the super bowl was aired on tv. I felt like I was visiting a strip club. I know the entertainers lean that way in their performance usually but in national tv at 8 pm? Years ago, my 3-5 year old son loved the 49ers and Joe Montana. I would have never let him view this. He died at age 6 but now he would be 33 and I would have been embarrassed to watch this with him! Please make the nfl do better. Young men need better!

My wife and I have two boys. Let's just say we were lucky they were in the other room when the half time show for this year's SuperBowl was on. It was very inappropriate. This was not family friendly - at least, skantily clad women dancing on stipper poles is not our idea of family friendly. We are definitely worried about next year's SuperBowl! Obviously, we would love to watch the NFL, but we just don't trust that any halftime content during any game will be ok for our two young boys to watch. Signed, two concerned parents!

I agree with other complaints that this year's super bowl performance by JLo and Shakira was too explicit and sexual. What kind of message are they sending to the thousands of young kids who are watching the game with their parents? Girls need to be empowered with their intellect, not their physical appearance. This show sent the wrong message to our young public. Performers need to be educated on what is acceptable, reminded to consider their full audience

I'm all about inclusion and diversity and celebrating one's roots and heritage. But why does that have to be said with nakedness? Give us the credit that we can appreciate the meat of your message without using sex to get our attention. It's insulting to our intelligence and cheapens your message. The rating for that would NOT have been TV-PG.message.

When talking about the entertainment at SB 2020, I referred to it as the crotch show. It was so offensive and I love to watch latin dancing. Clearly cameramen and male commentators thought the show was great but at what cost to the rest of the viewers? Allowing a stripper pole act on tv followed by children running on stage to sing is unforgivable. I don't care if Jennifer Lopez allows her daughter to be exposed to this crap, but don't force this on the rest of the viewership. This was not the appropriate entertainment for a Super Bowl performance. Its pathetic that performers in general cannot figure out how easily it would be to generate energy, interaction with their audience through smiles, music and joy without exposing themselves, holding their crotch, and pointing to their crotch as if it's a source of power over what.....

Hello,

My family and I usually only watch the SuperBowl when the Broncos play because that is our home team but this year we decided to join the masses. We were completely disgusted by the half time show. We were watching with our children who range in age from 11 to 23 and they all felt uncomfortable. My 23 year old son asked us to turn it off until the football playing came back on. Why are there no standards anymore for a supposed family event. Will they be naked next year with extras threading money through their thongs. This has to stop. Eventually the families will not trust the NFL to their children's eyes. Please have some standards!

Pornographic material shown by Fox should be disclaimed. We will neither be watching the Super Bowl ever again, not Fox programs.

It is bad enough that our children have a leader who debases women, but to demonstrate that women are valued as sex objects first and entertainers only coincidentally is unacceptable.

The president may think it is okay to grab them by the pussy, but most Americans have strong values. Shame on regulators for failing to pay adequate attention to prevent this type of crude content.

I just found out I could file a complaint, so I am late, but still want to file a complaint. The Super Bowl Halftime Show was too much like a strip club with pole dancing, and scantily clad women, women with their legs in the air, mirrored floor, so many crotch shots. This was not appropriate attire, nor appropriate behavior for entertainment during the Super Bowl. I saw after where Jennifer Lopez said it was celebrating Hispanic Women, but living in Miami, not everyone agrees with the Hispanic version of womanhood. It's too sexual and too revealing. The Super Bowl is not the place to depict women in this way even if the women doing it thing it's okay. It sends the wrong message that mixes sexuality and sports (much like scantily clad cheerleaders is also inappropriate).

The 2020 super bowl was marketed as a family event for all ages. Unfortunately the half time show with Jlo was not suitable for family viewing. It portrayed graphic sexual situations and young children in simulated cages. A TV rating should be given to the football game and then displayed TV ratings and warnings of graphic sexual content announced before the half time show. Consumers /Parents should have the right to make an informed choice to view the half time entertainment. It is a separate entity from the Super Bowl game.

This show was EXTREMELY inappropriate for a general viewing audience. In addition to the irony of the commercials showing how "girls can do anything, they can be astronauts & code, etc.", but in real life women are good for naked sexual shows in front of families and millions of viewers. It was essentially musical pornography. At the very least, let's have gender equality and make the men performers have their penises visibly protruding through their pants and wear thongs showing their butts. But, again, ironically - the men are not just fully dressed, but wearing winter clothing (in Florida!), complete with overcoats!!

There should be a dress code, just like in schools. Could a girl show up to school dressed like the women performers at the halftime show?

Or the show has to be shown after 10pm, when children are in bed.

Description

Dear FCC Authorities:

The Super Bowl Half Time Show was totally inappropriate for viewing by under age children and for that matter adults expect much better without the butts and crotches.

The Super Bowl Half-Time Show was really the BUTTOCKS SHOW. Entertainment for this event would have been terrific if it was only left up to the children who were in the performance. The adults who performed were brainless.

Not only were the performers mooning those who watched but feeling and holding their crotch. What is that all about?

In the future starting in 2021, the FCC should approve all Half Time Shows that the NFL wants to present during their football game. Obviously, the NFL cannot supervise themselves.

Also in 2020, the FCC needs to crackdown on a number of shows played on cable and regular TV network programming. Leave the sexual and immoral behavior included in programming left to Pay for View.

It is about time American Viewing was brought back to common decency. The FCC needs to do their job. Leave the explicit and sexual maneuvers in programming that adults are looking for left to those adults who want to pay for adult entertainment.

Furthermore, if women want to be respected, they had sure better not be shown what the Half Time Performance offered and then claim sexual abuse. Every women in America should have written a letter to the FCC on the programming being displayed for viewing today!

Sincerely,

(b) (6)

This year I was happy to hear about the two female artists performing but was very disappointed in how these beautiful women were dressed. My young adolescent and teenager were in the room and I was appalled by the outfits these ladies were performing in. They were a number of crotch shots which I thought were very inappropriate for young viewers and very few clothes that covered these ladies. This performance was not appropriate for young viewers and should not be on during prime time viewing. The Super Bowl really needs to step up their game on the half show and focus on talent that is appropriate for all ages to view.

Another married male friend said I didn't know a women's hips could move like that and then blushed.

My 14 yr old son was embarrassed to be watching it with his sister and I and clearly thought it was too close to porn. I was horrified to think of what a promotional event it was for the evergrowing sex trade in the US. Watching the news tonight as they commented on the minority of viewers who had filed complaints and hearing them comment, "these people need to upgrade their porn life- they don't know what REAL porn is".. finally set me over the edge to file my own complaint. I would like national tv to remain a "safe" family viewing event.

This year's halftime show was vulgar. I have 3 young, impressionable sons and an elderly mom and I have concerns about the pole dancing. Also, while Shakira has legitimate singing talent, the choice to choose a talentless (cannot sing but thinks she can) "singer" JLO was questionable. JLO seemed determined to get attention at any cost, even if it meant overshadowing Shakira by dancing provocatively and the show was not tasteful. Better (more talented) singers have been on the halftime show (bruno mars, Lady Gaga, Prince, etc come to mind). I hope that these 2 are not invited back, or else I probably wont watch it again.

I was extremely appalled and disappointed by the Super Bowl halftime show this year. When scantily clad women are gyrating and grabbing their crotch and spinning around on a stripper pole, I think that is highly offensive and should come with a warning before viewing. Many children are watching the Super Bowl along with their families and in this era of Me Too, the network should know better. It is shocking to see such an unapologetic, blatant display of sexualization of a woman. I had to tell my children to please close their eyes or leave the room. I didn't want my daughters to see that these women are famous and applauded for this behavior. The halftime show should've come with a warning so we can ask our children to leave the room. This is not OK, the Super Bowl should be a family show.

What Jennifer Lopez and Shakira did in front of millions of viewers, including my children, was disgusting and obscene. Pole dancing? Crotch-grabbing? It was both disgusting and insulting. How or why the event organizers would think the show was in any way appropriate for a family audience defies explanation and it needs to stop. To whom it my concern,

I was utterly disgusted and appalled at the Super Bowl half-time show that aired Feb 2020. The content of this act was something that would in any other setting have a rated R rating. Rather, this aired while families, including mine all over the country watched. As a mother of a 13 and 11 year old, we immediately had to stop the TV and send them out of the room. So disappointing to say the least. The show was crude, profane, and pornographic and completely unacceptable for the audience.

I wish to have a response to this, and assurance that the FCC along with NBC will have course corrected this in the future.

Regards,

In what planet would a stripper pole, crotch thongs and gyrations of this kind be considered ok for family viewing? This RUINED...and I do mean ruined my night. The embarrassment this caused at our party was unbelievable, no one knew what to say and no one wanted to look at each other when it's over. I WILL NEVER host another bowl party nor watch this show again, because now I know there is a real possibility of being exposed to images I set out to avoid. I was appalled at the nature of the half time show. I glanced at it over you tube for almost five minutes and couldn't believe what I saw on national television. There were families, young women and children watching this disgrace. There is no need for talent to be displayed in such a way that actually disgraces and degrades our human bodies to pornography with clothes on. What kind of an example are they trying to set? That in order to be talented you have to dress and dance in such a seductive manner? Is that the message we are sending to our youth? That is not fair to the young men out there in the audience either especially with pornography problems in today's marriage. That is not helping anyone. Please save those moves, and classless outfits for late night TV or HBO. That is wear it belongs at best.

SUPER BOWL 2020 HALFTIME WAS DISCUSTING AND DISTASTFUL FOR FAMILY ENTERTAINMENT

What has the football superbowl industry in America telling the world about our value system during supposedly FAMILY sporting events? Is the superbowl reducing itself to halftime entertainment that will produce faces in the stands that represent those of men and women in a stripclub with half open glazed over eyes.

The market population of those that would enjoy a family friendly bonding display of healthy uplifting compassion and joyful interaction is much higher than those that enjoyed the soft porn sex that was produced during the 2020 halftime show.

More families would come to the superbowl if they don't have to worry about being shocked during the half time show.

The FCC is allowing too many close calls to slip by with putting a fine on the producer of these shock shows. This means more and more shocking entertainment in the future. Is this what we want for our family America's values?

My family and I sat in front of our television, young sons included, and enjoyed the Superbowl game with snacks and excitement. When the Halftime show aired, my husband and I were appalled and in a state of panic as to how to handle the near pornographic show being performed in front of our young children. I found it insulting that CBS, JLo, Shakira, and all others involved thought that I would find it entertaining or enjoyable to have close shots of her crotch thrust in my face. I was ashamed of our country for reaching this point in 2020 that this is considered appropriate for primetime television and what is supposed to be family friendly viewing. The Halftime Show truly ruined an event that we look forward to every year in our home. This was very sad and sickening! Please do not allow this to happen again in the future.

As a person who doesn't want to see women gyrating their hips and dancing provocatively in front of me, I kept averting my eyes - thinking that it would soon move on to something more appropriate. But every time I would glance at the screen, it seemed to get more and more lewd. I happened to be at a Super Bowl party where a number of girls that were 4-7 years old were in the room. They seemed to be transfixed by the screen. I couldn't help but wonder, is this the type of entertainment we should be showing these impressionable young girls. I think not. Surely, the FCC can do something to make the halftime show of the Super Bowl more appropriate for all segments of the audience who view it. That's what I am asking you to do.

Shakira and Jennifer Lopez are seasoned professionals. So, it's unfortunate that I have to complain about the halftime show - specifically the JLo portion, which basically simulated a male strip club. If you have not been to one, you have now - whether you choose to or not. I had to quickly run upstairs to turn off the TV - with 6 young children watching (all under the age of 10). It was borderline, if not inappropriate for the Shakira portion, but the JLo portion certainly crossed the line. Even children said it was inappropriate - before I could turn it off. Routinely focusing in on a women's crotch area and (almost) naked bodies - at what point does that celebrate the Superbowl and its athletes? How does this align - even remotely - to the commercials celebrating women? What kind of messages are we sending to our children - you can accomplish anything you put your mind to - or work at a strip club? I should snapshot all the times we had to look at JLo's crotch and a man slapping her buttocks. This crossed the line for a show that is supposedly family friendly. Something has to be done.

Description

This is the first I knew of how to file a complaint, so it is a bit late. The Super Bowl was a porn show with children, pure filth, degrading to women, go for a "sexual shock effect" which instead was nothing but disgusting. NFL, the primary dancers, the production company, and director should all be heavily fined in the 7 to 8 figure range each. Then to add to the perversion, having mostly little girls lining the stage applauding this star spangled performance. The half time show made America look like sex slavers, child porn promoters, and pro-trafficking of minors... which is a mostly ignored epidemic in our country. Please send a strong and certain message that this filth is not entertainment we will accept or tolerate. The Super Bowl is a national cultural event - not a Jeff Epstein or Harvey Weinstein wet dream. FIX THIS NOW.

Thank You

I think that guidelines should prohibit a show that is R rated or even worse. I was unprepared for the level of what should be considered pornographic in it's nature. I was sick and changed the channel. It is a football game. In the future guidelines should be followed and the team and the performer fined a tremendous amount if the guidelines broken. Christian people should be able to watch a football game and not have to change the channel at halftime.

The halftime show for the Super Bowl was unacceptable during a family hour. There should be rules about what they can do during this live event. Shaking their butt, showing up close shots of the woman's crotch and just general clothing should be better moderated. You are suppose to be watching for these things and over the years it has constantly been slipping. Sexual type dances should not be allowed during prime time tv. Not just Super Bowl but all the time. It's really getting out of hand.

How could we possibly try to send a message of empowerment to our daughters and have the largest event in the country feature a stripper routine. It can't be empowering if it's something you'd never want your daughter to do. Not only do they have low talent but it's proven by the fact that the only way they could get attention is to take off their clothes and it's really disappointing to see the NFL and the FCC allowing it. It's not art, it's not speech. It's garbage.

I put off filing a complaint, but realized I needed to add my distaste and disgust for the insensitive and sexual explicit half time show of the super bowl. Our family watches it together every year, we love it. We had to turn the channel because of what was being broadcast into our home. My daughters and daughters-in-laws were greatly offended. My sons cracked jokes that they didn't realize that we were all transported to gentleman's club. In a time where we are trying to stop sexualizing our women and view them as more than sex objects and teaching our sons to be respectful and honoring our daughter and wife, this kind of crap gets pushed into our homes. As I think about this, I find the FCC becoming more and more un-caring, unconcerned and careless with the monitoring of programming on national television. If I want porn, I'll subscribe to a channel that provides that and by my personal choice. Yet I find the FCC is doing less and less about influencing or applying control over the content of public (free) channels. It's not about being "PC", it's about upholding the standards expected by our families. Start doing your job!

I wanted to state that I was so let down by American broadcasting as they took a night that bring families and friends together and threw at them sensual, degrading, explicit images without warning or care. What moral person can stand aside and not protect our children, my own mind or those of vulnerability. Is the network and performers heads completely in the sand on these issues plaguing our society? images THAT CAN NOT BE UNSEEN. i HAD A FELLING i WOULD BE DISAPPOINTED BUT TO NOT HAVE A OUTRIGHT WARNING POP UP ON THE SCREEN WARNING PARENTS AND OTHERS that the following show may be found offensive so some and a rating on the performance...shame on you and any self control on the entertainment business, knowing for a fact who would be watching (families, kids) and turn their heads without a care. I sincerely hope that this never happens again..but expect the network to not agree on my moral standards but can hope that someone holds them responsible. Anyother time on my tv on prime time or cable networks you have to put in a code we have set to watch any questionable material (PG 13 or not rated shows) the Superbowl had not such code pop up to warn or prevent watching meaning they had rated the programming to be PG....absolutely false! Misleading and so sad.

I view the superbowl as a family show and my children were watching that pathetic performance. Along with the many other children that were a part of the half time show. It looked like they were at the strip club.

Problem: The undivided attention of millions is there weather sex sells or not. You have a captivated audience. Why allow people that just want to make the headlines for their provocative performance ruin a family night. They could have had just a great performance without shaking their asses half naked the entire time.

Solution: Set the bar higher...let your no mean no with consequences not fines the NFL will pay millions. Do not broadcast that garbage. Stand for something or fall for anything. The NFL does what they do because they can. Time after time "wardrobe malfunction after wardrobe malfunction" they have been able to get away with it. There were not that many malfunctions the NFT does what it has to do keep the people happy and the fcc off their backs.

I am writing to complain about the 2020 Superbowl halftime show. It was lewd, crude, and inappropriate for television. The performance contained women who were inappropriately dressed, performing sexual gestures, with objects that are best described as items found in a strip club. The show created without any thoughts into a family event. This is also not the first time that the NFL has presented a halftime show that was inappropriate. Dear Sir or Madam

As I read in the newspaper today, you received several complains concerning the halftime show of the Super Bowl. Normally, I'm really not into joining shitstorms and so I try to remain polite as possible.

I would never ever watch the Super Bowl or Football in general. As a woman (I'm Swiss) you are being sexualized wherever you look: Films, Soaps, TV, Advertisement (where Super Bowl really is much better concerning the discrimination of women), we can be rented and used like a car, are being presented in Shopping windows like a pair of shoes and so on. This is just a few things to mention, women are being sexually discriminated wherever you look. It is really a hard time for women and I am not even able to watch sports with my man, without asses and tits all over the place. Well, It could be Beach Volleyball, where women need to dress tiny bikinis, while men wear shorts and a shirt! I already think Cheerleading is just old and annoys so many women. I know, those singers decided themselves, to present themselves as objects. It's just not fun to be a woman anymore, when you aren't even able to turn on the TV to watch Football anymore. Unfortunately, the situation of sexual discrimination gets worse despite everything you read in the newspaper. So instead of supporting this today's most massive discrimination, for ONCE please say no to discrimination.

Thanks for your time and kind regards,

The half time show at the Super Bowl this year was distasteful. The message Hollywood and TV is sending are double standards. Women want to be respected in verbiage but then we glorify them for wearing hardly anything and moving their bodies in a manner that makes you feel like you should be in a strip club. The days of Super Bowls only catering to men is long over. This is a family event and should be treated that way. We had to fast forward the half time show for our children and didn't watch it. We like Shakira and Jennifer Lopez but not when they move and dress in the distasteful manner that they did. Let their music be the show, not the strip club dancing. However, thank you for the wonderful tribute to America's Hero's. That was very well done and so meaningful for our country. It was one of the highlights of the event! I want to add my 2 cents to the complaints you have already received. The halftime show for the 2020 Superbowl was not family friendly and was not in good tastes. So, the sexual content of publically broadcast games and other entertainment needs to be rated so that families can know what is consumable by their own children. Better yet, the pro football leagues need to commit that they will make their displays of games including commercials family-friendly and family appealing. We are a country of families and the institution of the family matters--is very important. Please use the laws of the land to help protect families. Thank you for listening and understanding.

The Half-Time show was not family-friendly. Everyone knows it, including J-Lo & Shakira. It's mind-boggling that the NFL, that claims to be all about respect and integrity signed off on this (and probably encouraged it), Fox aired it and Pepsi endorsed it. It was highly sexualized. Not only do I not want my teenage son or daughter watching that type of programming and accepting it as normal - I don't want to watch it or normalize it either as an adult/father. It's really sad that whoever was in charge felt the need to turn the half-time into something so sexualized and semi-pornographic for the sake of ratings, or whatever their reasons were. Both of the artists' amazing talent stands alone without those elements.

I found this year's Super Bowl Halftime show with Shakira and Jennifer Lopez to be obnoxiously indecent. The camera focus on barely covered crotches was nauseating. The backup dancers acted like sex workers in bondage. It was just disgusting. Why do you allow such filthy spectacles? I don't want my granddaughters psyche damaged by images like that influencing her on what desired femininity is in the world. Filth. Garbage. Shameful.

We love dancing, J Lo , Shakira and am envious of their bodies! We Love that Latino community and empowerment of women! However, the Superbowl show was a clear representation that we have now have a PORN culture, and this is how we teach our children about sexuality. Staci is a sex ed teacher for children and relationship Coach. She sees the results every day on how or porn and hook up culture have normalized the objectification of women. We feel that this show was nothing less than psychological warfare on the children of our country. One moment J Lo and Shakira are pole dancing half naked, and the next moment Jo Lo is ushering in her daughter and other young girls to the song "Born in the USA". So another words "girls: become a pole dancer, because it is the American Thing to do!" I work with single people who are addicted to porn, have ED (men) and are often afraid to leave thier home or talk on the phone. The clear message is that we in the USA objectfy women, and you girls better step up to entertain us. I have young daughters, and we are so HAPPY they were not subjected to this. I want them to be valued for who they are not what they can do entertain the sick relationship with sexuality that has become the norm in our country. Remember children are watching. We MUST do better!

On Sunday February 2020 around 18:30 Eastern on FOX 5 channel, me and my family (wife, and 2 minors) expended some time to enjoy the Super bowl. The game was very enjoyable, however when the half time show started my wife and I were very disappointed the way two specific performers (Jennifer Lopez and Shakira) were dress up. The image was not appropriate at all when it comes to a show were most of the time kids are watching. I understand that we live in a modern world, however this wasn't any private concert on behalf of these two specific individuals. All I'm asking for future references is to show some respect to the audience. It is very uncomfortable to sit down and watch a show where you just have to turn it off because of an negligent behavior of two "performers". Be mindful that KIDS watch this type of events.

I found the super bowl half time show indecent. My two year old son and my neighbor's teenage son were both watching. When the performers got up on poles in very little clothing it was too close to a strip club. We walked out since we were at a party. Later the host turned the half time show off. We all agreed that performances that are that sexual should have a warning in front of them.

I am appalled having to watch a half time show that had 2 ladies, half naked, dancing and twerking and swinging on a pole designed for a stripper!! Especially during prime time tv. It's football!!!! Why can't the big bands do a decent show. It takes MUCH more talent to bring 100 people together to play a instrument and march to the tune than what was shown. I turned it off because my screen is a 55' and nobody wants to see jlo's crotch or twerking!! Come on people use better sense!!!

I would like to add my voice to the people complaining about the Super Bowl halftime show.

I am the grandfather of eight girls aged 10 to 17 and am disgusted thinking that they probably got to see that display.

Faux strippers are not the role model for young girls . And they do not encourage young boys to grow up to be the kind of men we hope they will be.

A solution would be to fine the NFL and carefully screen any future halftime show plans.

Allow me to jump onto the bandwagon of people complaining about the halftime "performance". Although I am a red blooded American male, normally that might appeal to me but for a nationally televised program plus the attendants at the game, that was truly a pathetic performance. If I want to see the latino camel toe, pelvic thrust, bubble butt rump shake I will go a local strip club. Personally, I hold the TV network and the NFL accountable for that piss poor display, that was not entertainment, it was anything except a family oriented show. I and many others hope that future programs are toned down to a more acceptable program, suitable for all ages.

I just want to add to the pile of complaints regarding the halftime show. Imagine if someone strolled into a child classroom or a playground dressed like that or dancing like that. They'd get arrested. Maybe you're cool sexualizing women, and maybe this is what the halftime has come to. But you're absolutely obligated to tell viewers what they are in for so they can send their children out of the room, or better yet, turn the TV off. Can you imagine you and your family gathering around to watch some softcore porn together? Well, that's what happened.

This halftime show was degrading to women and offensive to parents of children watching this game. How can viewers feel safe turning on the TV knowing the possibility of "soft-porn" would be televised: twerking, near-nudity (costumes), crotch grabbing, etc.

And...where was the American flag in all of this? It felt like an American tradition (the Superbowl) had been kicked to the curb and replaced by Hispanic twerking.

Very disturbing. No wonder the ratings for this halftime show are at an all-time low.

After seeing on the news that many filed a complaint about the super bowl half time I am appealing for a venue to send my complaint. I wrote this but could not get it delivered directly to Jlo so am happy I can vent out my thoughts as noted below:

“Jlo- You may be a beautiful and talented lady.... yes, may! your Super Bowl performance sucked out every ounce of beauty and talent and converted you into a professional slut! You’re not worthy of raising a child with your toxic dismissal of decency and disgusting degrading of women. I mean women in the sense of “ladies”. I was so offended by your obvious demeaning display of femininity (yes I turned you off but made certain I watched it several times on my DVR before writing this). I am aged... I have never spoken of my disapproval in anything in my lifetime and understand you don’t need my approval, but know for certain any liken I may have had of you as a beautiful and talented lady is diminished to ashes. I will never again watch you under any venue and will speak of my feelings to other ladies to assure your presence is viewed in a discussing and negative manner. Your performance brought the gains of women back to the dark ages. Shameful! Simply shameful! Written with regrets.”

Please share with her.

Thank you,

My husband and I, both retired educators, found the Super Bowl halftime show completely inappropriate because of its highly sexualized performances. In the era of Me Too, sex trafficking, and children growing up way too early with exposure to such behavior, these performances were shockingly tone deaf. We encouraged our students to develop their minds and characters and values, all of which was contradicted by these performances. Future half-time performances should be family friendly as Super Bowl viewing is a family event. We were also surprised and disappointed that Lopez brought her young daughter into such a performance.
